

WILLIAM E. BOEING
DEPARTMENT OF AERONAUTICS & ASTRONAUTICS

UNIVERSITY of WASHINGTON

WELCOME TO SEATTLE AND THE UW CAMPUS!

The William E. Boeing Department of Aeronautics & Astronautics at the University of Washington extends a warm welcome to you! We are excited that you have decided to visit our great city and our beautiful campus.

We have a full day of information, lab open house, and networking set up for you on Friday, March 11th, but we hope you will take the opportunity to see the city and have some fun too. Seattle is a great place to live, with all the amenities of a world-class city, plus easy access to the mountains and the ocean.

The University of Washington is an integral part of the Seattle community too, with strong ties to local industry and a large network of alumni in careers around the globe.

Finally, if you haven't visited our campus before, you are in for a treat- it's just about cherry blossom time! The UW campus is beautiful this time of year with dozens of cherry trees in bloom around the quad. Take a moment to stroll around.
